BY Letters received this Morning there is an Account, that His Majesty was Yesterday in perfect Health, on board the Royal Caroline, at Harwich.

Whitehall, April 4.

Lisbon, March 10. A few Days ago the Queen was taken so ill, that 'twas greatly feared she would have miscarried; but she is since pretty well recovered: However, her Physicians have advised her to go to Caldas, in order to drink the Waters, and she will accordingly set out for that Place soon after Easter.

Stockholm, March 26. The King has ordered a fine Silver hilted Sword, gilt with Gold, to be given to each of the principal Officers of our City Militia, as a Compliment for the handsome Appearance they made at their Majesty's Coronation. The States of this Kingdom have now under Consideration several Schemes for promoting of Commerce, and 'tis not doubted but that some new Regulations will be made in Relation thereto before the Separation of the Diet. They have likewise under Consideration a Project for putting the Marine on a better Footing than it is at present, by erecting an Academy for the Education of young Gentlemen in the Art of Navigation; and 'tis said the States have already assigned the necessary Funds for the Support thereof. The Harvest having failed last Year in some Provinces of this Kingdom, Orders are sent to Dantzick and Lubeck for the purchasing and sending hither a great Quantity of Corn. The King's Journey to Finland, in order to review the Troops, and to see the new Fortifications, is deferred for the present.

Warsaw, March 26. The Count de Malachowsky, Great Chancellor of the Crown, is actually employed in preparing the Universalia for convoking the next General Diet that is to be held at Grodno in the Dutchy of Lithuania. Some Days ago we received Advice of the Emperor's having raised Count Sulkowsky, Commander in Chief of the Saxon Troops, to the Dignity of Prince of the Holy Roman Empire; and that, in Consequence thereof, the Estate he lately purchased in Upper Silesia, has been erected into a Principality.

Copenhagen, March 28. Yesterday the Countess de Schmettau took Possession of her Employment of Governante to the young Royal Family. By the last Letters this Court received from Stockholm, the Diet of the States of that Kingdom continue their Assembly with great Unanimity, and to all Appearance will not separate before the End of next Month. We have received Advice from Gluckstadt, that Baron Ahlefeld, Commandant of that Fortress, died there a few Days ago.

On Tuesday next the Prince of Campo Real, Ambassador from the King of the Two Sicilies, is to make his publick Entry into this City. The same Day their Imperial Majesties and the whole Court set out for Schonbrun. A great Number of Families continue to arrive here from divers Parts of the Empire, who, after having obtained the necessary Passports, set forwards on their Journey to Hungary, where they propose to settle.
